

Forkliftaction.com

One online place for all your materials handling interests.

Forkliftaction.com is the materials handling world's leading business to business website. Our vision is to create one interactive and dynamic place to inform, connect and involve the materials handling industry and its supporters across the globe.

Since 2000, <http://www.forkliftaction.com> has been keeping the industry linked and informed with our independent industry news, business directories, job vacancies, interactive discussion forums, used equipment sales and other resources such as machine specifications, industry events and photo galleries.

Forkliftaction offers many marketing and advertising options to target a focused and loyal business audience. Our advertising solutions strengthen industry brands, promote unique products and technologies and market used forklifts for sale.

Forkliftaction.com News has an estimated readership that exceeds 190,000 and is emailed weekly to over 52,000 industry professionals worldwide. Our independent, up-to-date news presents readers with an opportunity to learn about new technology and products, corporate moves, mergers, acquisitions and other market reports.

In September 2010, we celebrated our 10th anniversary - 10 years of strengthening your links across the globe. With over a decade of experience, the business portal is established within the industry, appreciated by its readers and recognised by advertisers.
